

Emanuel Henrich

Project Manager

H2Global Stiftung

Emanuel Henrich is Project Manager at H2Global Stiftung. Among other tasks, he is responsible for the further development of the H2Global Stiftung and its activities. His fields of expertise are economics and European studies (M.A.).

Until summer 2021, Mr. Henrich worked as Project Manager for the German Society for International Cooperation (GIZ) GmbH, where he contributed to the development of the H2Global project since the beginning of 2020. In this position he also advised the German Federal Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development regarding the promotion of the international power-to-x market ramp-up.